17,000 CATHOLICS FORMED PARADE

Turnout of Holy Name Societies in Washington Great Success

MANY FROM THIS CITY

Mgr. Meagher in Sernon Pledges Loyal Support to President Wilson In Foreign Crisis.

Seventeen thousand men and boys, members of the Holy Name societies of the Washington Archdiocese, carrying the Stars and Stripes and banners, formed a five-mile long pageant which marched down Pennsylvania avenue Washington, yesterday afternoon as a monster protest against taking the name of God in vain.

The parade is the annual protest of the Catholic Church against blasphemy and perjury. It was the longest religious procession ever held in the nation's capital. It required nearly three hours for it to pass a given point. Lined up on both sides of Pennsylvania avenue and at the monument lot were 75,000 people, representing all religious faiths.

The parade was reviewed by a number of Catholic dignitaries from the south balcony of the Willard Hotel, from which hung two American flags and the yellow and white Papal flag These were Archbishop Bonzano, the Apostolic Delegate to the United States; Bishop O. B. Corrigan, of Baltimore, the personal representative of Cardinal Gibbons; Bishop D. J. O'Connell, of Richmond; Bishop Currier, of Cuba; Very Rev. J. Raymond Meagher, of New York, founder of the Holy Name Society; Mgr. James F. Mackins, of Washington; the Rev. R. A. Skinner, the Rev. L. M. Kelly, the Rev. W. A. Carey. Parochal Robbins, the Rev. C. A. Ech, the Rev. John Noonh and the Rev. L. J. O'Leary.

Following the parade services were held at a temporary altar erected at the foot of the hill upon which Washington's monument is located, The crowd formed in front of this altar on the hillside, Benediction was given by the Rev. M. A. Waldron, prior of the Dominican House of Studies, of Brookland, D. C.

A notable feature of the service was the sermon by Father Meagher, of New York, who paid a high tribute to President Wilson. His references to the President were received with cheers from the vast crowd He assured the President that the Catholics of America stood behind him in the present international crisis, and declared, should difficulty arise he would find valiant defenders among those who follow the Catholic faith. The sermon was, in part, as follows:

"The thought uppermost in the minds of reading and thinking men of today is that of war. Sentiments of horror and even disgust must possess our minds when we realize that a thing so adverse to the fundamental principles of Christianity and contrary to the high ideals of that cultured civilization of which we boast has entered upon the scene and threatens to destroy some of the splendid achievements and monuments of the religion of Christ and force back the triumphal march of culture and education, and even civilization, for many a day.

"When war was declared and the call to arms, was made, never was there such a display of patriotism, never such a firm, sincere belief in the justice of a cause, never such a readiness to enlist under the banner of their nation and to offer their vary lives for the honor and good name of her whose protection they claimed and to whom they owed the peace they once possessed, and the affluence which had been theirs.

"Here on this national ground within sight of this remarkable monument and the residence of our Chief Executive we offer to our zealous, watchful guardian of our national welfare our sympathy in these days of international difficulties and our undying allegiance both to the principles of this glorious republic and to him as the President of the American people. We assure him that should the hour of international difficulty arise he will find valiant defenders of American liberties among those of Catholic faith who will bravely emulate the courageous example of their forefathers who freely shed their blood that America might live.

"With a just appreciation of and a sympathy with the gigantic difficulties which beset the path of action of our just and wise national Executive, we present to him the appeal of 1,000,000 practical Catholic Americans that in his negotiations with our neighboring Government of Mexico he will consider all conditions not only from an economic viewpoint but also from the stand of freedom of conscience and as far as lies in his power assure to a wonderful religious people the same rights which are enjoyed by every form of religion in the United States."

BELGRADE COSTS TEUTONS HEAVILY

Servian Capital and Adjacent Heights Are Held by Invaders

REPULSED ON DRINA

Attacking Forces Thrown Back On Ado Island, and Allies, May Blockade Ports

Paris, Oct. 10—The announcement made by the German War Office of the capture of Belgrade was confirmed in an official communication from Nish, issued here at the Servian legation. The Austro-German attack on the lower Drina, in the northwestern frontier, is said to have been repulsed with enormous losses for the Teutons, The statement follows:

"Belgrade has fallen into the hands of the Germans after a desperate resistance.

"Fighting continues all along the Danube and Save fronts. The purpose of the enemy, is to advance through the Morava Valley, separating Kostolac (38 miles southeast of Belgrade) from Durbravatza (on the Danube, 35 miles east of Belgrade), where his chief efforts are concentrated. The enemy suffered enormous losses in making unsuccessful attacks on the lower Drina. The enemy has been thrown back on an island he occupied before opening operations."

The view is entertained in diplomatic and other official quarters that the operations in the Balkans have assumed new and important significance. The Austro-German drive to the southeast is regarded as a sequel to the French successes in the Champagne and the manner in which the Russians have prevented envelopment of their armies. Germany and Austria, according to this view, are compelled to seek a new field of effort toward the accomplishment of decisive results, as well as for the attempt to break through the enveloping ring of the allies.

It is conceded the Germans have gained substantial successes in the past year in Belgium, France and Poland, Nevertheless, Europe as a whole is a vast theatre of war, and the Entente Powers are now, as one French observer expressed it, maintaining effective resistance against further German advances through France to the West, through Italy to the south, or through Russia to the east.

Thus only one weak spot, it is pointed out here, is left—to the south east, in the Balkans.

It is therefore maintained that the allies, having demonstrated their power of resistance in all directions excepting the southeast, Germany is now massing her forces against the one remaining point where she may be able to break through the encircling wall.

This is believed to be one of the chief reasons for the extent of the Austro-German movement to force a way to Constantinople and the routes leading to the Orient, as well as for the counter movement of the allies in landing large forces at Saloniki, interposing a barrier across this path of exit.

The Figaro says that the outcome of the new operations in the Balkans compares in significance with the historic battle at Salamis, in which Themistocles finally held back the Persians.

PRESENTED WITH LOVING CUP

Members of Ancient Artillery Co. Honor Alex. J. Wedderburn

Alexandria J. Wedderburn, of Fairfax county, and connected with the United States Internal Revenue Service was the most agreebly surprised man in Richmond Saturday, following the presentation of a handsome silver loving cup to him by members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston.

According to Mr. Wedderburn, several members of the organization entered the cafe in which he was lunching yesterday and it was not long before he was conversing with them in a most brotherly manner.

After a talk of some length the throats of all the participants were rather dry, but Mr. Wedderburn was equal to the occasion and ordered refreshments as a dust chaser, in true Virginia style. To return the courtesy the artillerymen ordered another round of beverages, but Mr. Wedderburn declined to accept on the ground that he had firmly resolved never to take more than one drink in one place at one time. He entertained them, however, with tales of the Old Dominion in bygone days, new Ford jokes and various other parlor accomplishments.

During the conversation he gave to each of the party a souvenir of Alexandria, Va., These souvenirs were ordered struck by Congress, and were sold in Washington to raise a fund for the building of a monument to General Washington in Alexandria.

While at work in the Federal building this morning he was waited upon by a self- appointed committee of these same good fellows from New England, and was presented with a cup in their behalf by Lieutenant Roberts, United States quartermaster at Boston.

The cup is about 8 inches high and proportionately wide, is of solid silver and the inscription is handsomely engraved as follows:

"Presented to Alexander John Wedderburn, of Fairfax Co., Va. by his friends of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston."

On the reverse side are the names of the gentlemen who made the testimonial as follows:

Private Jas. A. Dunning, Bangor, Me.; Sergt. Daniel H. Thompson, Bangor, Me.; Maj. Wm. E. Martin, Boston, Mass.; Capt. Stephen F. Keagan, Boston, Mass.; Lieut. Geo. H. Myers, of Richmond, Va.; (a recruit) Sergt. Wm. B. Lantz, Grouester, Mass.

Mr. Wedderburn was greatly surprised and touched with the method taken by the Ancient in showing their appreciation of his hospitality and declares that the cup will always remain one of his most cherished possessions.

CORPORATION COURT

The quarterly term of the corporation court was opened this morning by Judge L. C. Barley. This is a criminal and civil term, but there are no matters of importance to be heard at this time.

Final decrees of divorce were granted Lawrence Morris from his wife, Emma Bean Morris, and Estelle E. Baldwin from her husband, Louis F. Baldwin. Both plaintiffs were represented by Attorney Robinson Moncure and gave desertion as the cause.

In the chancery suit of Gordon Thomas and others against Fannie Dixon and others a decree was entered authorizing Gordon Thomas to sell for his own interest the property known as 1405 King street.

BACK TO THE TUNING FORK

Congregations in Some Churches Witness Reappearance of Ancient Device.

The Alexandria Lighting Company yesterday selected the hours between eight a. m. and one p. m. in which to install a new turbine. The current was necessarily cut off while the work was in progress. Those who preside at church organs in this city which are operated by electricity found themselves handicapped after the hymns had been announced. There was but one recourse—a return to the tuning fork. Many in the congregations never saw such an instrument, and it attracted considerable attention.

John E. Ellett, 74 years old, president of the National State and City Bank, and former president of the Old State Bank in Richmond, died at his home in that city yesterday.

VIRGINIA STATE FAIR NOW OPEN

Fine Weather Assures One Of the Most Successful Shows

MANY ON THE GROUND

Shows and Exhibits Numerous, and Large Crowds of Richmonders and Others Pleased.

Richmond, Oct. 11—With fine weather which the local forecaster assures for the coming week the tenth annual edition of the Virginia State fair, opened this morning as the posters proclaims, to be the " greatest and grandest ever given."

All day yesterday and far into the night skilled workmen were engaged in putting the finishing touches on the decorations and husky workmen connected with midway attractions struggled unrelentingly with tent poles and canvas while every freight that pulled up alongside the fair grounds brought its contribution—everything from a prize apple to a horse.

The race track and the grounds are in the pink of condition, and though General Manager Warwick and his assistants were very busy men yesterday rounding out the details preliminary to the opening there they were smiling and evidently happy over the prospect of what promises to be the most successful fair in the history of the ViVrginia State Fair Association.

William Jennings Bryan told the people of Richmond Saturday night what a state of "preparedness" for war means, but Manager Warwick is going to show the people of Virginia what a state of "preparedness" for a big fair means, and a casual observation of the grounds and the arrangements evidence that the men behind the gun on the state fair planned wisely and well.

The free attractions are better than ever before, and the Midway attractions more and merrier. Every possible space has been leased and more concessions would have been granted if the grounds had been larger. But there is enough in the way of entertainment to amuse and interest every visitor, whether he or she be from city of country. The administration building is a dream, and one can well spend a day therein inspecting the exhibits. Refreshment booths are scattered all over the grounds, a number of the churches and charitable organizations being represented, and the usual comforts and safeguards in the shape of rest rooms, hospitals, etc. are found on the grounds. The city department has an engine, hose wagon and a detail of ten men on duty for fire prevention and a physician from the city Hospital has been detailed for duty with an ambulance o nthe Fair Grounds. The Fair Association has engaged a force of Pinkerton detectives for duty during the week, and a detail of twenty experienced patrolmen from the three Richmond stations will be on duty during the entire week.

ANGERED BY BALKANS FIASCO

London Globe Hints at German Influence in Foreign Office.

London, Oct. 9—Describing Great Britain's "diplomatic failure" in the Balkans as "ghastly," the Globe declares that foreign relations of the country cannot safely be left in the hands of the Foreign Office as it is at present constituted.

Its record, says the Globe, "has been one of dismal, tragic weakness. It is a misfortune that Sir Edward Grey speaks no language but his own. It is a greater misfortune that he has been incapacitated through ill health. It is the greatest of all that his permanent under-secretary, upon whom he must chiefly depend, is sprung from a German mother and married to a German woman. If the failure is not to culminate in disaster the ill-omened partnership must be ended."

Mrs. Bayly, of Front Royal, who had been visiting her sister. Mrs. Benton Chinn, has gone to Fairfax.

DR. HENRY J. KEY DEAD

Brother of Mrs. George C Jenkins And Mrs. Daingerfield

Dr. Henry J. Key, one of the best known bachelors of a generation ago, died yesterday morning at his apartments in the Hotel Altamont, Baltimore.

He was about 80 years old and had been an invalid for the last six or seven years, latterly becoming more or less helpless. Death resulted from arteriosclerosis.

Dr. Key was a brother of Mrs. Kate Key Jenkins, the wife of George C. Jenkins, and of Mrs. Virginia Key Daingerfield, Francis Scott Key was his grand-uncle.

In his time Dr. Key was one of the most popular of clubmen, noted for excellent taste in dress and his courteous manners, which are associated in the public mind with the days of the old South. His favor was sought in the social activities of Baltimore and he was a leader in the cotillons that helped make Baltimore city famous.

His early life had been spent in the South and he inherited the Southern touch of geniality and social tact. He was a natice Louisiaian, and thought was a native Louisianian, and thought inheritance, to take life easy, he studied medicine. When the Civil War broke out he volunteered for the medical corps of the Confederate forces and he was made a surgeon, serving through the conflict.

Shortly after the war he moved to Baltimore and here he had his permanent home, though he frequently spent months in travel abroad.

He was a member of the Baltimore Club and a charter member of the Baltimore Country Club. His brother was the late Edward Key, who died in Rome last April.

About six years ago he developed arterio-scerosis and he has since then necessarily withdrawn from all activities.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning. A mass of requiem will be sung at Corpus Christi Church. Burial will be made in Bonnie Brae Cemetery.

BAGGAGE MASTER KILLED

Phillip O. Hughes, Injured in Saturday Morning's Wreck Dies.

Phillip O. Hughes, of Lynchburg, baggage master of the New Orleans-New York Limited, which collided early Saturday morning with train No. 19, of the Southern Railway, is dead as the result of injuries received in the accident. Hughes was underneath his car uncoupling the air and steam hose preparatory to arranging for the transfer of a "deadhead" dinner on No. 19 to the fast train, when, the accident occured.

Hughes's left leg was severed above the knee, and he died shortly afterwards from the shock.

The collision occured at 7:40 o'clock while the limited, which was four hours late, was waiting on the main line for the local to take siding. When No. 19 rounded the curve near the side track, Engineer Ponton was unable to bring his train to a stop, and the crash came after he had applied the emergency brakes to avert the accident. The engines telescoped each other and remsined on the track, due to the fact that the local was not traveling at a high rate of speed. Engineer Ponton and his fireman remained in the cab and were uninjured, except for a severe shaking-up. Engineer Keith, on the limited, jumped to safety when he realized that the local could not stop in time, and his fireman, a negro, sustained only slight injuries, as the result of being thrown against the side of his cab.

Passengers on the limited were uninjured, among them being Congressman Thomas Heflin, of LaFayette, Ala.

Scanning the political horizon for next year, observers in Richmond and visitors from all parts of the State fail to see any opposition to United States Senator Claude A. Swanson for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself in the primary in August.

WOULD EXTEND THE SESSION

Amendment to State Consitution Makes 90 instead of 60 Days

NO VOTE THIS YEAR

Many Believe Two Months Sufficient If Less Time Were Wasted by the Legislature.

Richmond, Oct. 10 —Contrary to widely published reports in the press of the State, the people of Virginia will not vote on proposed amendments to the State Constitution on November 3. The resolutions, providing for the submission of amendments, extending the regular session of the General Assembly to ninety days and changing the rules for reading bills in both houses must be agreed to by the next General Assembly, and in that event, will be voted on at the presidential election in 1916.

In accordance with the law, Clerk John W. Williams, of the House of Delegates, has published the texts of the amendments in newspapers throughout the State. This circumstance has led to erroneous belief that they would come before the voters in November.

Many newspapers in the State have taken an active stand against the amendment, extending the sessions of the General Assembly from sixty to ninety days.

In requiring the publication of the texts of amendments before the General Assembly has passed the resolutions for submission at two successive sessions, the law contemplated giving information to the voters as to possible issues which candidates for the State Senate and members of the House of Delegates would have before them.

In 1914 the resolutions were adopted and a two-third vote will be required at the session this winter. If either fails of passage, it is killed until the next session.

The amendment requiring that bills be read in full on one day and by their titles on two succeeding days before being put upon their passage is merely for the purpose of simplifying the procedure of the General Assembly. At present the Constitution requires that all bills shall be read at length on three successive days. There is practically no opposition to the change. The rule is not strictly observed at present, except when compliance with the Constitution is insisted upon.

The opposition to the amendment, extending the length of each regular session, takes the position that the additional expense to the State will not justify the change. It is declared that the legislators would not be able to accomplish any more in ninety days than they do in sixty, and that there will be the same rush at the end of a ninety-day session as there is now.

On the other hand, those favoring the amendment insist that many valuable measures have failed of passage or have been allowed to die during the last hours of regular sessions, and that thirty days additional will enable the General Assembly to clear up the calendar.

LATE C. A. STRANGMANN

Former Alexandrian Was Found By His Wife Dead in a Chair at His Home in Buffalo

The death of Carl Augustus Strangmann, president of the German-American Brewing Company in Buffalo, a few days ago, was announced in the Gazette at the time, Mr. Strangman's funeral having taken place in this city last week.

Mr. Strangmann and wife were alone in the house in Buffalo when death came to the former. When Mrs. Strangmann called from upstairs to her husband and failed to receive an answer she hastened to determine what was wrong. She found Mr. Strangmann apparently asleep in his easy chair.

There was a pallor over his countenance. She summoned Dr. John H. Pryor, who said Mr. Strangmann had died of heart-failure.

Coming from one of the oldest German families, whose ancestors lived for 300 years in the old country, Mr. Strangmann was an ardent son of the homeland. A thoroughly practical man, enterprise always went hand in hand with love of learning. In a busy career he found time to lay up a store of knowledge which justly enrolled him in the ranks of scholars. He possessed one of the finest private libraries in Buffalo.

On his father's side Mr. Strangmann was descended from Henry Strangmann, who resided at Wagenfeld in Hanover and was by occupation a farmer. On his mother's side he was descended from the Portner family who lived at Bahden in Westphalia not far from Wagenfeld in Hanover.

The senior Carl A. Strangmann came to America in his youth, settling in New York in 1817. He was a pioneer sugar refiner in New York Upon his return to Saxony he married Augusta Portner. Mrs. Strangmann was unwilling to cross the Atlantic and so the couple remained in Bahden.

Their son, Carl Augustus Strangmann, was born in Bahden, in May 1860. Coming to this country in 1876 the youth first worked for a year in a grocery store in New York City. He then came to Alexandria, where his uncle, Robert Portner, owned a brewery.

Here the young man learned the brewing business, and in 1883 he was made manager of the concern, a position he filled until 1895. He then went to Cleveland, where he engaged in brewing, having John M. Leicht for his partner. In 1899 the industry was absorbed by a syndicate, and in 1900 Mr. Strangmann came to Buffalo.

Here he purchased a controlling interest in the German-American Brewing Co. Under his guidance the company was quickly established on a sound foundation, and today has one of the finest plants in New York.

Mr. Strangmann's position in the brewing industry was well recognized He served as an officer of the United States Brewers' association and was a trustee of the New York State Brewers' association, also a member of the Brewers' Exchange of Buffalo.

PARADE OF THE HOLY NAME SOCIETIES

Many Alexandrians, not members of the Holy Name Society, visited Washington yesterday afternoon to witness the parade on Pennsylvania avenue. The members of the organization from this city made a fine appearance It is estimated that fifty thousand persons reviewed the parade.

The parade exceeded in splendor and magnitude any outdoor religious demonstration ever conducted by the Catholics of the Washington diocese, and in the presence of the highest dignitaries in the councils of the church in America, 19,000 members of the Holy Name societies of Washington, Baltimore and Alexandria yesterday marched in parade along Pennsylvania avenue to Fifteenth street and thence to the Monument Grounds, where the demonstration was concluded with a sermon by a Dominican preacher of nation-wide reputation, and benediction of the the Blessed Sacrament. The spectacle in its entirety was awe-inspiring. The thousands who watched the pageant manifested a reverence seldom shown by a great crowd.

The turnout was a knightly declaration of the Holy Name Society's world-wide motto: 'In the name of Jesus every knee should bow."

Hearty tribute to the aims and work of the Holy Name Society was paid yesterday by Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany in Washington, and many years ago rector of Christ Church in Alexandria.

In announcing religious events for the week. Rev. Dr. McKim mentioned the parade of the Holy Name Society. He expressed his appreciation of the work of the society and said that its work against the use of profanity and blasphemy was a great necessity.

Rev. Dr McKim, in the sermon which followed the announcement, chose for his subject, "The Government of the Tongue," a topic similar to that discussed by Very Rev. J. Raymond Meagher, founder of the Holy Name Society, who spoke at religious services at the Monument Ground on blasphemy.

It may be stated in connection with the above that the ancient Israelites, whatever else they may have left undone, were especially anxious not to incur the condemnation cast upon blasphemers. The name Jehovah was never uttered by the reader in the synagogue, but where it occurred in the sacred writings he substituted the name Adonai (Lord). In the olden times there were no vowel points in the Hebrew language; the reader was supposed to know where to sound them. After the Babylonish captivity of seventy years the ancient Hebrew ceased to be spoken, and the true pronunciation of Jehovah was lost.

One of the first commandments of the Author of the Christian religion was "Swear not at all." The command is repeated in other places in the New Testament

The bridling of the tongue is a difficult feat, and ever has been, and the mission of the Holy Name Society should appeal to all.

HOLY LAND A MILITARY CAMP.

The Turks have transformed the Holy Land into a huge military training camp. Recruits daily are drilled on the Mount of Olives and Samaria Plain by German officers. Immense targets have been placed on Mount Golgotha, the spot where the Crucifixion took place, to serve in artillery practice to test the effect of high explosives.

It was announced last week that battles were being fought upon the site of the Garden if Eden, and now the world is being told that the spot upon which the Savior delivered the greatest of all sermons is a shelling ground and the spot upon which His cross stood is occupied by a target.

The angelic peal. "Peace on earth, good will to men," would be out of place on Judea's plains today.

FAILED TO HAVE EFFECT.

The Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch says: "After hearing Bryan's lecture on peace, a woman went out and shot a man," . This reminds us of an incident in Alexandria on Marsh 28, 1873. A negro named Charles Manley was hanged in the jail yard for killing and robbing an old clockmaker in the "Petersburg" section of Alexandria. The Gazette in closing a description of the hanging said "the lesson of the law had been taught."

A negro who had stood in the jail went to Washington that night and killed and robbed a cattle drover named Frank Hahn. The murderer was captured in Alexandria and returned to Washington where he was later hanged.

FIREMEN KILLED

Three firemen were killed at a fire in Richmond yesterday morning. This sad affair brings to mind the killing of seven Alexandria firemen sixty years ago the 17th of next November at a fire on lower King street. The venerable editor of the Gazette delivered an oration at the funeral of the victims. Among other things he uttered this truth, "They died in the performance of their duty." These words apply also to the heroic Richmond firemen who surrendered their lives while so engaged.

UNHAPPY SERVIA.

(Philadelphia Record)

When the impartial historian of the future writes the story of the wars of the present decade he will note with sympathetic interest and pity theseemingly interminable misfortunes and woes of heroic little Servia. It is a tiny nation, just about the size of Maine, and before the present war began its population numbered only 4,600,000, almost all peasants, for the country has no manufactures worth speaking of. In the first Balkan war its peasant soldiers acquitted themselves splendidly against the Turks, and in the second war they and the Greeks inflicted a crushing defeat upon the truculent Bulgarians.

It was while Servia was bleeding from the wounds of these two contests that generous Austria, a country with 12 times the population and a hundred times the wealth, made known to Italy in August, 1913, her plans for attacking her little but plucky neighbor and utterly destroying her. For a time the dastardly project was halted, but last year the assassination by an Austrian subject of the Austrian Grand Duke in Austrian territory furnished the flimsy pretext for the assault upon Servia. It is one of the glories of the present war that Servia, despite the disparity in size of the two combatants, twice gained sweeping victories over superior forces and finally expelled the invaders from her soil. Then came the dreadful visitation of typhus, which is said to have carried off 135,000 of the stricken people, and from which they have not yet recovered.

As the last cup of bitterness to be pressed to her lips, 400,000 Germans and Austrians, reinforced by several hundred thousand vindictive Bulgarians, are now marching against the unhappy little nation, whose army can not possibly number more than 250,000 or 300,000. Even with aid from the allies she is bound to suffer terribly. Doubtless that toughness of fibre which enabled Servia and Montenegro to keep the torch of liberty burning, even though feebly, through centuries of Turkish tyranny will preserve the peasant nation through its present troubles. The heart of the world outside the Teutonic countries and their allies, will go out to the brave little people now battling for the preservation of its integrity and freedom.

EMBASSY WRECKED.

Turkish Mob Attack Italian Headquarters in Constantin ople.

Athens, Oct. 10— A Turkish mob attacked and wrecked the new building of the Italian embassy at Constantinople yesterday morning while the building was devastated. Doors and windows were broken and everything portable was carried away.

Rioting that was provoked by the high cost of living caused 4,000 Moslem women to assemble in front of the subline porte, where they held an anti war demonstration. The crowd was charged and dispersed by the the troops and police. The mob looted bakers' shops, which are now guarded by the police.

Reports purposely spread that the Anglo-French forces have abandoned operations in the Dardanelles are belied by the enormous number of wounded troops arriving daily in Constantinople. Many are dying owing to the lack of medical attendance and hospital accomodation.

Massacres of Armenians continue. The Turks are openly threatening the Greeks with the same fate.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The belief is growing in official and social circles that the wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt will take place within the next ten days. Washington society would not be the least bit surprised if it occurred in two or three days. It is generally understood that the ceremony will be as private as possible.

When Dr. John A. Leavitt called to see William Steer of Camden, N. J. a sufferer from heart disease, 22 years old, yesterday the young man asked for the newspaper the doctor carried. The doctor reluctantly handed it to him, and the young man turned to the sporting page and handed the paper back with the remark, "I see the Phillies lost;" and lay back in bed. When the doctor examined him he was dead.

Joseph R. Lamar, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, has had a slight paralytic stroke. Reporting that some of the British soldiers are being fed on mule meat, Amos A. Roberts, of Malden, Mass., has returned after serving a short time in the Royal Field Artillery in Liverpool. Roberts says that the English soldiers are allowed only a pound of bread for four men daily, and that the poor fare served was one of the chief reasons he wanted to quit the army.

J. Bradford Lawson, of Sinclair, La., was instantly killed and his brother, H. Langdon Laws, Jr.., was seriously hurt when an automobile, which the latter was driving, went down a 80 foot embankment near Plainville, Ohio, early yesterday. German toymakers have put on the market a toy sixteen-inch gun. It is two feet long, and is not a bad model of the Krupp monster, and it fires a small shell fifty yards. The shell contains a minute charge of powder and a fuse, and it explodes on concussion. It falls into four pieces, which can easily be put together again, when the shell can be recharged for use any number of times. The toy, complete, with a supply of shells, costs $30.

It is alleged that the reresentatives of the Quadruple Entente have advised Greece that Bulgaria's present attitude results from a written agreement signed on July 17, by Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg, then acting German Ambassador to Turkey. This agreement made on behalf of Austria and Germany provided for cession to Bulgaria of Serbian and Greek Macedonia, including the Greek ports of Saloniki and Kavala; of Kastoria in northern Greece near the Albanian border, and of Ibania. The representatives of the Entente Powers assert they have proof that this agreement was made.

London bankers are not satisfied with American exchange and hope that suitable arrangements for the skillful employment of the new exchange loan funds will be devised speedily. A feeling that the war's pace is too fast and furious to last is manifest. The new German move in the Balkans suggests a last desperate throw. following the perception that wintry misery will soon make their costly success in Poland and the Baltic provinces worse than valueless. They are also hard pressed by the Anglo-French offensive, hence the Danish forecast of peace before Christmas may truly represent German desires and anxieties.

Two men were knocked overboard and drowned and several others were seriously injured yesterday at Newport News, in a riot among half a hundred merchant sailors on a pier. Four arrests were made, the men being held on a charge mutiny.

How Do You Buy Roofing?

If you are in the habit of asking your dealer simply for some "Ready" Roofing or "Rubber" Roofing, you will probably get a roofing that is not guaranteed, or one made by an unknown manufacturer, or one which will begin to leak a few years after it is put on your roof. You avoid all these risks, save money in the long run, and get a manufacturer's guarantee of 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness, backed by the best responsibility when you insist on

Certain-teed Roofing

Why be satisfied with an unknown or poor quality roofing when you get Certain-teed for only a few cents more per square? By reason of the enormous out-put of our big mills—the largest Roofing and Building Paper industry in the world—we can sell this guaranteed Roofing through our dealers on a reasonable price basis.

It is simply a question as to whether you will insist on the best or take what you get. A man never gets anything unless he asks for it, and as long as you ask merely for a roll of Roofing, you are running a chance of not getting your money's worth.

Insist on Certain-teed, the original guaranteed asphalt Roofing, and get your money's worth.

GOTHALS FACES BIG JOB

Slide At Gallard Cut Greatest In Canal's History.

Panama, Oct. 10—A careful survey of the slide area in the Gaillard cut reveals the fact that there probably are 10,000,000 cubic yards of earth in motion, which must be taken out by dredging operations before a permanent channel through the cut is possible. This is the conclusion reached by the canal engineers, who concede that there is now little hope of opening the waterway, even for the temporary use of shipping, much before the first of the year.

The present rate of wet excavation is 1,000,000 yards a month, and at this rate it would require not less than 10 months to remove the mass which is now sliding into the canal considerably faster than the dredges can take it out. It is said that often the canal bottom bulges up to a height of 15 feet above the surface of the water, due to the tremendous weight of the hillsides.

The area of motion is roughly calculated to be in the neighborhood of 175 acres, which constitute the greatest slide area in the history of the canal. It extends 2,000 feet along both banks of the waterway, with probably an average of 1,500 feet back of the centre line of the canal prism.

Maj.-Gen. George W. Gothals, Governor of the Canal Zone, has not yet made an official announcement concerning the probability of opening a temporary channel, but is is believed shippoing interests have been given to understand the nature of the situation, and it is probable that most of the 100 ships now here awaiting passage through the canal will be ordered to their destination by other routes.

POINCARE WIRES WILSON

French President First Head of Foreign Nation to Congratulate Him on Engagement.

Washington, Oct. 10— Messages from the rulers of foreign countries congratulating President Wilson on his coming marriage began arriving at the White House yesterday. The first to come was from President Poincare of France. The Ambassadors and Ministers of the various countries already have congratulated the President.

The President and his fiancee, Mrs. Galt, returned from Baltimore yesterday afternoon and tonight the President had dinner with Mrs. Galt at her home. He delivered an address this morning before the Daughters of the American Revolution and on Wednesday will lay the cornerstone of a new memorial amphitheatre at Arlington National Cemetery. Mrs. Mrs. Galt is expected to be present.

If the President and his fiancee have decided exactly when they will be married they have not divulged the fact to friends and relatives. The impression is going, however, that they will not wait until December as originally intimated.

KILLS MIDNIGHT INTRUDER

Wife of Slayer Had Preferred Charge Against Dead Man.

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 10— Peter Deardorff, a farmer of Adams cunty, was shot about 12 o'clock Saturday night by Oliver Sharrah, who accused the victim of assaulting his wife. Deardorff died during the night and Sharrah is in the Adams county jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharrah had been in Gettysburg, Saturday afternoon and noticed nothing unusual at their home near Cashtown upon returning in the evening. About midnight the husband heard a noise on the first floor of the house and, picking up a shotgun, started down the stairs. He found Deardorff standing in a doorway between two rooms. Sharrah fired and his victim fell shot in the abdomen. He arose, staggered out of the house and dragged himself to the roadway, where he lay for several hours. It is believed that Deardorff was in the house when Sharrah and his wife returned, but hid himself.

A physician was finally secured, but the man died about an hour after his arrival. Sharrah gave himself up,

Last week Mrs. Sharrah preferred a serious charge against Deardorff and the warrant in the case was to have been served today.

ROUMANIANS HOOT TEUTONS

Riotous Demonstrations Against Central Powers and Bulgars at Bucharest.

London, Oct. 9—The Morning Post prints this dispatch from Budapest, dated September 29:

A hostile demonstration has been going on in Bucharest against the central powers and Bulgaria. A Russophil mob marched to the Austrian and German legations and burned pro-German newspapers. They also smashed windows of buildings inhabited by pro-German politicians. The police are unable to control the situation.

The German and Austrian, as well as the Bulgarian legations, are guarded by police. The mobs have been violent every night since the Bulgarian mobilization was announced.

A telegram from Sofia to Azz Est says that the chief command of the Bulgarian forces will be intrusted to Prince Boris, the crown prince. Many old generals have been placed on the pension list.

Sec. 50. No law shall be enacted except by bill. A bill may originate in either house, to be approved or rejected by the other, or may be amended by either, with the concurrence of the other.

No bill shall become a law unless prior to its passage it has been—

(a) Referred to a committee of each house, considered by such committee in session, and reported;

(b) Printed by the house in which it originated, prior to its passage therein;

(c) Read at length on three different calendar days in each house; and unless,

(d) A yea and nay vote has been taken in each house upon its final passage, the names of the members voting for and against entered on the journal, and a majority of those voting, which shall include at least two-fifths of the members elected to each house, recorded in the affirmative.

And only in the manner required in sub-division (d) of this section shall an amendment to a bill by one house be concurred in by the other, or a conference report be adopted by either house, or either house discharge a committee from the consideration of a bill and consider the same as if reported; provided, that the printing and reading, or either, required in sub-division (b and c) of this section, may be dispensed with in a bill to codify the laws of the State, and in any case of emergency by a vote of four-fifths of the members voting in each house taken by the yeas and nays, the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal; provided further, that no bill which creates or established a new office, or which creates, continues or revives a debt or charge or makes, continues or revives any appropriation of public or trust money or property, or releases, or discharges, or commutes any claim or demand of the State, or which imposes, continues or revives a tax, shall be passed except by the affirmative vote of the majority of all the members elected to each house, the vote to be by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, entered on the journal. Every law imposing, continuing or reviving a tax shall specifically state such tax, and no law shall be construed as so stating such tax, which requires a reference to any other law or any other tax. Immediately before this is done, all other business being suspended, the title of the bill shall be publicly read. The fact of the signing shall be entered on the journal.
